Ballardvale won its first victory of the season by defeating the Y. M. C. A. of North Andover, on the Plains, Saturday afternoon by a score of 11-9.

The game was somewhat loosely played, both making numerous errors. It was won in the eighth inning when with two men on the bases, Dearborn made a pretty two base hit to center, scoring two runs. ## QUITE SIMPLE.

On board an ocean steamer a gentleman wished to help a lady, who was of an inquiring mind, to comprehend the principle of the steam engine. This is how he cleared away all difficulties:

"Why, you see ma'am," quoth he, "it's just one thing goes up, and then another thing comes down, and then they let the smoke on which makes the wheels go round. That's what they call the hydraulic principle. It's quite simple when you know it."

"I wish, I never understood it before," quoth the lady, "but you had it properly explained," replied the fair listener.

THE TIME TO SELECT YOUR VACATION HAUNT.

MOUNTAINS, SEASHORE AND LAKE RESORTS.

The trees and foliage are decked in their summer garb, and the perfume of summer is beginning to be felt. The sun's rays are hotter than a few weeks ago; the ripening and fresh color of spring has deepened into the mellow color of summer. In another week, perhaps, business men will be rushing pell mell for the nearest cooling spot. The beaches will be thronged, and the country and mountain resorts will be preparing for the rush. You are not obliged to swelter under the summer's sun, nor to tread the baked bricks of the city either; at least not on your vacation; and it behooves you to take note of the numerous and varied resorts in Northern New England, and you wish to select a beautiful valley of absorbing scenery, where very streams and verdant plains make up a vision of pastoral beauty?

You can choose your resort, anything you want in the Boston & Maine list of resorts, with hotels and rates for 1904. This booklet is something entirely new. It contains a beautiful, colored cover and ninety-six pages of interesting descriptive matter, information and illustrations. It will be sent free upon receipt of address, by the Gen. Pass. Dept., B. & M. R. R., Boston.

SUED BY HIS DOCTOR.

"A doctor here has sued me for $12.50, which I claimed was excessive for a case of cholera morbus," says R. White, of Cochealla, Cal. "At the trial he praised his medical skill and medicine. I asked him if it was not Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy he used as I had good reason to believe it was, and he could not say under oath that it was not." No doctor could use a better remedy than this in a case of cholera morbus. It never fails. Sold by all druggists, Lawrence; W. A. Allen, Andover; C. H. Shattuck, Ballardvale.

ELEVATORS IN SKYSCRAPERS.

"Few people realize just what the passenger elevators do in a skyscraper," said the starter in New York's highest structure, the Park Row Building.

"Our ten elevators take up an average of forty thousand people in a day, lifting them to an average height of two hundred feet. The Broad Exchange building, while not so high, takes up about sixty thousand people in a day, and the American Tract Society building averages thirty thousand people."

"Thus the elevators of these three buildings alone could carry three army corps in one day. It would take forty big transports to accommodate the passengers in the Park Row building were they to decide on a trip to Europe at once. If each person that goes up in the Broad Exchange building in a day enlisted as a soldier, we should have as large an army as conquered the Philippines."

"There are about one hundred skyscrapers in New York, and an average each building's elevators lift ten thousand people daily. Were they all to turn soldiers, the army they would form, a million strong, or a thousand regiments, would be able to wipe out the Russian and Japanese armies together. But it must be remembered that these skyscraper elevators lift ten thousand more than once in a day."

THE FAMOUS NORTH SHORE.

The beach season opens next week, and persons planning their vacation should bear in mind the North Shore. The booklet "All Along Shore" published by the Boston & Maine Passenger Department, Boston, describes and pictures the natural beauties of this famous section, from Nahant to Portland and east. It will be sent to any address upon receipt of two cents in stamps. The beautiful portfolio, containing only half tone reproductions of the best views of Marblehead, Clifton, Phillips Beach, Beach Bluff, Gloucester, Rockport, Manchester, Magnolia, Beverly, Salem, Salisbury, Rye, Hampton Beach, Kittery, York Beach, Portsmouth and Portland, will be mailed upon receipt of six cents in stamps.

NOTHING CONCERNED ABOUT UNCLE JOE CANNON.

When the Statehood bill came up in Congress Representative Bartlett of Georgia complicated matters by demanding that the engrossed bill be read. There had been much parliamentary sharpshooting on both sides, and there were loud demands for a ruling on this point. Speaker Cannon had been trying to untangle matters with little success. He whacked the desk with his gavel.

"The chair rules," he said, and then he looked around in distress for Asher Hoos, the parliamentary expert. Hoos, justly and wisely, said a few words to the Speaker. Then "Uncle Joe," his confidence restored, began again.

"Mr. Speaker," shouted John Sharp Williams, the Democratic leader, "is this ruling to be made after a consultation?"

"It is," replied the Speaker, "and I will say I have consulted with a parliamentary expert who has served this Speaker and many Speakers before him faithfully and well, and I will say further that he can give this Speaker and the gentleman from Mississippi—no, cents and spades."

ANALYSIS OF CURRENT EVENTS Classified, Explained, No Sensationalism or Partisanship

COMMERCE and INDUSTRY

Industrial.

Auto Suburban Service.
Announcement has been made that July 1 will see the beginning of a suburban automobile service between West Philadelphia and main line towns in the vicinity. No track or electric plant will be needed, and it is thought the experiment will be a financial success and will be extended to other places. The fare will be 5 cents to Merion, the terminal town of the first line.

Many Railroads Retrenching.
Following the order of the Pennsylvania railroad, reducing its force of workmen, which went into effect May 21, similar steps have been taken by nearly all the railroads in this country, aggregating a prospective laying off of 75,000 employees. The cuts affect especially the freight departments and shops. The Erie has bulletined a reduction in its locomotive shops at Susquehanna. Most of the notices will have gone into effect by June 10.

Loree's Wheat Estimate.
President Loree of the Rock Island system, who has just returned from a 7,000 mile trip, says that crop conditions are better than reported. Throughout the winter wheat belt he expects an 85 per cent crop. In the southwest, where winter wheat was killed or seriously injured, the farmers have plowed it under and have planted corn and cotton.

Labor.

Eastern Freight Tie-up.
L. J. Curran, president of the International Freight Handlers' union, announced May 20, after several fruitless conferences with the New York, New Haven and Hartford officials, that all the freight handlers and most of the marine firemen and others between New York and Boston had been called out on strike and threatened that if the company didn't respond promptly to a last appeal from the Civic Federation a sympathetic tie-up of all the coastwise steamship lines would go into effect. In the meantime thousands of tons of perishable freight were at stake. The New Haven was claiming a victory by hiring nonunion men and keeping a large part of its freight in motion by roundabout routes. It was estimated that about 11,000 men were on strike. The trouble began on the New York piers of sound steamboat lines. A demand for higher wages was made besides the discharge of a non-union foreman.

Lake Steamers Ordered Out.
The executive committee of the Lake Carriers' association, May 24, ordered the members of that association to start their boats as soon as they were ready. Enough men had been secured to start some of the boats soon after that.

Air Brake Displacing Men.
An order recently issued by the Jersey Central allowing only one brakeman for every coal train crew because all the cars are now equipped with air brakes is causing a great deal of dissatisfaction in the Trainmen's union.

Commercial.

Surplus For Smelting Employees.
The American Smelting and Refining company is about to divide $100,000 among its most faithful employees in accordance with a plan adopted some time ago. It was that when the earnings of the company exceed $7,500,000 a year a certain percentage of the earnings should be divided among the employees at the discretion of the executive committee. The smelting trust has called in $191,000 of the Pueblo 6 per cent bonds.

Two Hundred Pianos Burned Up.
The doom of the square piano was sealed at Atlantic City May 24, when the 130 delegates to the National Piano Dealers' convention did a war dance around a bench bonfire made of 200 old square pianos. The idea was to signalize the passing into history of that make of instruments. Its popularity has waned steadily until dealers are unable to get rid of the relics in their possession.

Losing Our Own Iron Market.
The record of Philippine imports of iron and steel manufacturers for the year 1903 shows an increase of 10 per cent and a total of $2,102,915. The United States has furnished less than one quarter of these products in the past two years, the rest of the trade being captured by English and European competitors.

SOCIOLOGICAL

Head of Women's Clubs.
Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker of Denver was last week, at St. Louis, chosen president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs during the fifth biennial convention of that body. Prior to this action the federation had taken a decisive stand toward barring out Mormon women from membership in any of the clubs.

It was in the form of an amendment to the by-laws providing that no club should be eligible to membership if it had any members affiliated with any organization that tolerates either by preaching or practice the violation of international or state laws. Melville E. Stone, manager of the Associated Press, created a great deal of discussion by telling the federation that women are largely to blame for the prevalence of scandal in the newspapers. He declared that not a line of scandal would be printed in an American newspaper were it not for the women, for whom, he said, the modern newspaper is edited. He said women had a joint responsibility with the editors as to the class of news contained in the columns of the metropolitan dailies.

Methodist Bishops-Elected.
After three weeks of strenuous labor and numerous ballots the general conference of Methodists at Los Angeles succeeded in electing the eighth bishop recommended by the episcopacy committee. The complete list chosen is as follows: Berry, Chicago; Spellmeyer, Newark, N. J.; McDowell, New York; Bashford, Delaware; O. Burke, Rome, Italy; Wilson, Baltimore; Neely, Philadelphia; Day, Syracuse. The most notable feature of the election was the balloting for Chancellor Day of Syracuse university and Thomas B. Neely, both of whom were vigorously opposed on charges of heresy, ungentlemanly conduct, etc. Day finally succeeded in getting the floor and denied the charges against him, whereupon his assailant, Dr. Munhall of Philadelphia, was hissed, and Day's election followed by a vote of 474, ten more than enough for a choice. At a later session Dr. Day presented his resignation as bishop, which was accepted by the conference. The choice of an eighth bishop in his place was indefinitely postponed.

Antidivorce Platforms Made.
The Presbyterian general assembly at Buffalo approved the report of the interchurch conference and advised each minister to refuse to unite in marriage any member of any church whose marriage is known to such minister to be prohibited by the laws of the church in which such person holds membership unless the minister believes that in the peculiar circumstances of a given case his refusal would do an injustice to an innocent person who has been divorced for Scriptural reasons. The Baptists in convention at Cleveland passed a resolution placing on record their opinion that the country should have a uniform law on the subject of divorce based upon Scriptural teachings. The Methodist conference voted to make the crime of adultery the sole legal reason for divorce recognized by the church. The Methodist Protestant conference at Washington unanimously endorsed the interchurch movement for uniform marriage and divorce laws and appointed a committee of three to represent the denomination in that regard.

Funston Story Ruled Out.
The state text book commission of Kansas in readopting the history which has been used in the high schools of that state for the past five years ordered Mrs. Noble L. Prentiss, the wife of the historian, who is revising the work, to strike out the statement that Frederick Funston was made brigadier general because he swam the Bag Bag river in the face of a hot fire from the enemies in the Philippines. The commission says the credit will be given to Privates Trembley and White, to whom it belongs, and that the statement that "the little general" ever swam a river will be stopped while there are yet men in the state who know it is not true. General Funston in a newspaper interview the day after this action declared that he did swim the Bag Bag, a shallow, narrow stream, and this event had been confused with the swimming of the swift, broad Rio Grande two days later by two Kansas natives.

Accidents.
The city of Yazoo, near Jackson, Miss., was swept by fire May 25, rendering 5,000 of the inhabitants homeless with a property loss of $3,000,000. Ten men were suffocated and fifty rendered unconscious by gas from a small locomotive in a mine tunnel near Williamstown, Pa., May 26. The boilers of the towboat Fred Wilson exploded at Louisville, Ky., May 26, killing thirteen men, injuring several others and completely wrecking the boat. Three persons were killed and nine were injured by an explosion in a fireworks factory at Camden, N. J., May 23. Seven persons were killed and five injured as the result of an explosion in a fireworks plant at Finlay, O., May 23.

New Theory of Earth's Heat.
Professor Rutherford of McGill university, Montreal, Canada, in a lecture before the Royal Institution at London, has suggested that the earth's heat was attributable to the presence of radium instead of to a molten mass which had been slowly cooling for a million years. Professor Rutherford is the man who was first to measure the mass and velocity of the radium electrons and is a recognized authority in this field. He said it was probable that radium was present in all matter. The theory, if accepted by science, would mean a reconstruction of geology, leading to the conclusion that the earth has been inhabited for millions of years.

Notes.
Richard B. Painter, a Williamsport (Pa.) machinist, has interested shipbuilders in a new propeller system to be used on the sides, bow and stern of the ship, shafts being driven by electric motors. It is expected to greatly reduce the time of an ocean journey.

*** Harrison Martindale, a London inventor, has constructed a clock in which the electrical conductivity in contact with tiny strips of silver marks the time in periods of two minutes. Its possible period of operation is 30,000 years without further attention. *** The twelve young men on whom Dr. Wiley was experimenting with acid packed foods have quit the experiment, all showing ill effects of their diet to some extent. *** The effort of Philadelphia surgeons to make a new nose for Earl Leonard of Asbury Park by grafting the flesh and bone of one of his fingers has not proved successful, it being necessary to remove the pieces of finger bone which it was hoped would give rigidity to the grafted organ. *** Professor Castellani of Colombo, Spain, announces that he has found the bacillus of dysentery.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

THE COST OF AN AUXILIARY WATER SUPPLY.

The water board held its monthly meeting Tuesday morning. A. H. Robinson was absent.
Bills were approved and bids for 1000 tons of coal of same grade as used last year were called for, each local dealer to be notified by mail, and the coal to be paid for as weighed at the pumping station.
On motion of Charles A. Donovan, bids were called for lead pipe and lead lined iron pipe for approximately the amount of material used last year.
On motion of Mr. Donovan bids on meters were ordered, the number to be 300 and to be furnished as required.
At the meeting was not a full one, Mr. Donovan refrained from bringing up the matter of rates charged to small users until the next meeting.
Supt. Collins reported that water could be bought from North Andover at the rate of $50 per each 1,000,000 gallons. To connect with the North Andover mains would take 1,000 feet of 8-inch pipe and the entire cost of connecting would be about $2,500. The supply is the nearest and most available. Methuen could guarantee only 250,000 gallons daily. The report will be made to the water works committee and water board combined.
A proposition to extend the water mains to Norris street, at the extreme eastern section of the city prolonged a discussion. The cost would be several thousand dollars and there is nothing in sight now to warrant this expenditure. So President Arundel contended.
The board will inspect the street. The order of the city council in regard to free water for the German Ruth society was laid over until next meeting.
An order from the city council for a stand pipe on Essex street, near 222 Essex street, was given favorable action.
Adjourned.

Back to the land of Evangeline! The thousands of natives of St. Croix Island, who have drifted to New England, will find an opportunity to visit again their "fatherland" in June. Three hundred years ago June 25th, Samuel de Champlain, intrepid explorer, sailed down the coast and discovered St. Croix Island. In commemoration of the French explorer's discovery, a magnificent celebration will be held this year, and on the beautiful old island will hold a real "Old Home Celebration," on June 25th. Tickets at greatly reduced rates to St. Stephen, N. B., good going June 20th to 24th, inclusive, returning not after July 23, via the Boston & Maine Railroad, will be on sale at Boston Union Station and City Ticket Office, 322 Washington St., also at the Canadian Pacific Office, 362 Washington street and at principal stations on the Boston and Maine railroad as far as and including Saco. ### OLD RESIDENT FOUND DEAD.

William E. Bass was found dead in his room at 401 Essex street, the Tenney block, by Joseph H. Collins, an expressman of the American Express Company. Collins had a package to deliver and went there about 7:15 Tuesday morning. He found the door unlocked and Mr. Bass fully dressed, leaning against the stove dead. He had evidently arisen as usual and prepared to get out when the summons came.

Mr. Bass was a widower with one daughter. His brother, S. W. Bass, lives at the corner of Haverhill and Amosbury streets. The deceased was a native of Lansing, N. H., aged 75 years. He was an inventor and manufacturer of balloons for fun and for many years received a comfortable royalty from his inventions. He had lived in apartments in the Tenney block since the block was built about 70 years ago.

The marriage records of this city show a slight decrease in matrimony with the "honeymoon" of last year. This fact has been noted elsewhere, particularly in Boston, where the decrease in the number of marriage licenses taken out has excited comment.
Last year the average age of grooms in this city was 27, 48-100, none of brides, 24-100, of both 27-100. The total number of marriages was 861. Of these the brides married for the first time numbered 502; second marriages, 58, and third, 2. The number of grooms contracting marriage for the first time was 778; second marriages, 77, and third matrimonial venture, 6.

"This Land Is Mine." Is It?

The building of a fence to entirely shut off travel across the land from Main street to High street in front of the Barnard residence, would seem to have brought to a climax the long discussed status of that particular piece of land.

For a great many years there has been a claim on the part of many citizens that the bounds of the public square contained all of the triangular plat which private parties have sought to control and divert to their own uses, during recent years. At least one organization in town has had a committee look into the question, and considerable private research has been devoted to the matter, all with very conflicting results. The committee's report seemed to encourage the belief that the private claimant had a strong hold upon the land. Private investigations, by at least two parties known to the writer, resulted in the exactly contrary view that the land belongs to the town.

It is certainly high time that the question should be determined. The land is either rightfully controlled by the parties who have fenced it, or it is wrongfully withheld from public use. If the particular strip next to the Barnard homestead is private property, then we fail to see why it does not include the centennial tree plat farther out in the square, and it is sure that the authorities who placed the tree where it is, nearly thirty years ago, must have thought they had a right to do so. The land in question was occupied by a band stand for many years with never a question raised as to the public ownership of it, and there is certainly much evidence to support the theory that the town owns this important piece of land. People have walked across it, children have played on it, the stars and stripes have floated from a flag staff planted in it, all for many years. In fact, the public enjoyed its use for all the long years until the present claimant began to tie it up. And the public still believes it has all the rights it ever had.

The selectmen have promptly called the case to the attention of the town counsel, and they will be supported in pushing vigorously the town's claim. It is up to them to have this long standing controversy settled, and there are not a few honorable citizens who believe the first step to that settlement should be a prompt use of an axe to chop down the newly erected barriers.

Editorial Cinders.

The communication regarding automobile speed is timely. We have not yet a local horror to match those chronicled in so many places, but it is not because of any lack of reckless driving through our streets. The bicyclist's early days of owning the sidewalk and riding rough shod over the rights of everybody else are being repeated in the automobilist's doings of today. "Here is power and might" they seem to cry, and everything and everybody is supposed to get off the earth. Not all are guilty to be sure, for it is refreshing to see that most of our local drivers are very careful and courteous, but the few who break over the bounds of care and courtesy are bringing upon the entire body of enthusiasts in this new sport a great deal of censure. The streets are still owned by the public, although rushing street cars and whirling automobiles are pretty frequently driving everybody away from the use of them.

On all sides the announcement of Dr. Peirce's resignation is received with great regret. He has put into the past year of labor at Pynchard a large amount of hard work, and the results hoped for through the reorganization of that institution are beginning to show. It is a loss to the town that he cannot be retained to continue his good work so well begun. His splendid personal qualities and his worth as a scholar and teacher have made for him a warm place in the hearts of all who have had contact with him, and his stay in Andover is all too short. He came to the school in a trying time, but he has well met the need. His Andover friends rejoice in his promotion, and wish for him continued success in his profession, notwithstanding their regret that he is taken from a work at Pynchard to which he seemed to be so well adapted.

We are glad to see new signs of life in the Cricket Club. They have beautiful grounds, a most attractive house, and all the fittings and furnishings necessary for their favorite sport. To let all that go by default would be a pity. It only needs a gathering together of all the disconnected enthusiasts for this fine game to assure a new, and more vigorous than ever, lease of life for cricket in Andover.

At the request of friends of Rev. J. A. Richards, we give space today to his statement of belief presented at his ordination last week. It is an interesting document and will be read with pleasure by many friends who could not attend the service. Mr. Richards enters upon his chosen work under most favorable circumstances, with the promise of a useful and brilliant career.

Smyth Memorial Service.

On Wednesday evening of the anniversary week at the Theological Seminary, a commemorative service will be held in honor of the life and work of Professor Egbert Coffin Smyth, D. D., LL. D., whose connection with the Seminary extended from 1863 to 1904. The participants in this occasion of loyal and grateful tribute will be members of the distinguished faculty, among whom Dr. Smyth was president. Professor E. Y. Hincks, D. D., will preside. Commemorative services will be conducted by Prof. John Phelps Taylor, D. D., and Professor William H. Ryder, D. D. The addresses will be given by President George Harris, D. D., LL. D., of Amherst College; Professor George Foote Moore, D. D., LL. D., of Harvard University; and President William Jewett Tucker, D. D., LL. D., of Dartmouth College. To this service all who are in attendance at the anniversary, all friends and fellowtownsmen of Dr. Smyth, the members of the several congregations in Andover, and all interested, are cordially invited.

For the convenience of alumni, delegates, visitors from out of town, and the immediate Seminary circle of friends and associates, a simple collation will be served in Bartlet Chapel at six o'clock; after which, and before the memorial service, opportunity for an informal gathering and exchange of greeting is provided.

Studio Talks.

"PICTURE MILLS"—To be avoided. Although Portrait photography has attained a state of almost absolute perfection, there is no place where the real art of Photographic Portraiture comes nearer being entirely eliminated, than in the numerous mills called Photograph Studios in Boston and other large cities.

The work produced is always variable; sometimes it is good, often it is poor and frequently the photographs are considered worthless by the patron. Why? Because every photograph put out is a conglomeration of the ideas and handiwork of each of the many employees who have a dab at it during its production. I was employed in a New York mill at one time where 75 sittings was an average day's work, where the printing room turned out from 1200 to 2500 prints daily. When I state that two of us, on one busy day, made 25 sittings in one hour and a half, any one can figure up the time allowed for Art.

The pictures come so near being machine made that it amounts to the same thing.

COMMUNICATION

Editor of the Townsman:

Dear Sir: It seems to me that something should be done to prevent the speeding of automobiles down Main street. Most of the machines are driven by gentlemen and go at an ordinary gait, but occasionally one passes going far in excess of the speed limit.

I have measured a stretch lying between two prominent poles and can accurately time the machines. To be entirely fair I allow from one-half to one second in favor of the automobiles. Even with this liberality I have made the following records:

|          |                                 |
|----------|---------------------------------|
| No. 63:  | at the rate of one mile in 3.12 |
| " 3943 " | " " " " 2.56                    |
| " 1957 " | " " " " 2.40                    |
| " 4391 " | " " " " 3.10                    |

At Morton street where a view of Main street is obstructed, a lady was in great danger the other day.

All the machines I have observed speeding are those belonging to persons living at a distance.

My records are partial as I am at home only during the evening.

Obituary.

HELEN SEELY KIMBALL.

The sympathy of a wide circle of friends and acquaintances of Mr. and Mrs. J. Tyler Kimball and family is extended to them in the loss of their daughter Helen, who died Thursday afternoon after an illness of several months. The highest medical skill had been devoted to the saving of the precious life, but to no avail.

Helen Seely Kimball was born Oct. 11, 1892, and was an only daughter. Of a peculiarly sweet and sunny nature, she was the light and life of her home, as well as of every gathering of which she was a part. She had nearly completed her education preparatory to high school or academy, and gave promise of a splendid young womanhood.

Funeral services will be held at the School street home Sunday, June 5, at 3 p. m., and will be conducted by Rev. Frederic Palmer.

May Celebration.

A May procession was held under the auspices of St. Augustine's church last Sunday afternoon when about 250 children of the Sunday school were in line. This is the first time for some years that a May procession has been held but it is expected that one will be held in succeeding years.

The line formed on the grounds near the church and proceeded to school, thence to Ridge and back to the church. The children have been drilled with care by Rev. Fr. McGowan for some time and their appearance reflects credit on his work. Following is the order of march: Wardens, Crossbearers and Acolytes, Altar Boys, Sunday School Boys, Knights of O. L. G. C., Sunday School Girls, Crown of Mary, Holy Rosary, Children of Mary, May Queen, Choir, Celebrant.

On returning to the church the children occupied the center aisles and the visitors were seated on the side of the church. The following attractive program was then carried out:

Salutations, Twelve Little Girls

Hymn, Bring Flowers of the Forest

Act of Homage, (1st verse and Chorus) Small Boys

Hymn, (2nd verse and Chorus) Dittie

Mysteries of the Rosary, Dittie

Hymn, (3rd verse and Chorus)

The Crowning: Reception.

Hymn, "Mother Tell Me, What Am I to do?"

Sermon, Rev. J. B. Leonard, O. S. A.

O Salutaris Hostia, Benediction.

Laudate Dominum, Holy God We Praise Thy Name.

PRINCIPAL PEIRCE

Makes Statement in Regard to Distribution of Tickets for Pynchard Graduation.

As there has been considerable criticism in regard to the seating of the audience at the Pynchard high school graduation, we have obtained the following statement from Principal Peirce which shows what is being done in the matter towards giving satisfaction to the largest number. He says:

"The matter of accommodating the public on the occasion of public school graduations is always perplexing and difficult of solution. It is a question which involves the principle of physics that no two bodies can occupy the same place at the same time. If, for instance, 1000 persons wish to be present in a hall which will seat but 650, a considerable portion is certain to be disappointed in one way or another.

"The problem reduces itself to one of two methods of admission, neither of which is entirely satisfactory. Admission must be either without ticket and unlimited, or by ticket only and restricted to the seating capacity of the hall. The former method always means great inconvenience and discomfort from overcrowding. The latter means that some, who would like to get tickets, will be disappointed in not getting them, but those who do get are sure of a fair degree of comfort and safety. Probably very little consideration would be necessary to see that the latter is far preferable, provided some fair and reasonable method of distributing tickets be adopted.

"The matter, as far as it pertains to the coming Pynchard graduation in An-doover, has been given careful thought and the ticket method will be followed, with the following plan of distribution. Graduation is regularly the event of the graduating class. But certain people, from their relations to the school, are unquestionably entitled to recognition. Such are the Trustees, School Committee and Superintendent, parents and near relatives of the graduating class. Then a few others who are more or less directly interested in the school, as parents of scholars and teachers in the various schools. Beyond these, who seem reasonably to be entitled to seats, whatever tickets remain will be offered for distribution at a time and place to be announced in the Townsman next week. Naturally when all the tickets have been given out that will be the end of it, and persons who have been unable to get a ticket will have to forego the pleasure of the entertainment.

"This will doubtless disappoint many people, but probably it will be better to disappoint them about tickets in this way, after trying to employ the fairest plan, rather than disappointing them by not being able to give comfort and security in the hall.

"Invitations and tickets will be sent out in accordance with this plan and the remaining tickets will be offered at a time and place to be announced later, with the hope that the difficulty of the situation will be realized and that the plan will be approved for its intention to do the best possible for as many as possible."

MEMORIAL SERVICES

Andover Lodge, I. O. O. F., and Indian Ridge Rebekahs Attend Divine Worship at the Free Church.

On last Sunday evening a memorial service was held in the Free church in honor of Andover lodge, No. 230, I. O. O. F., and Indian Ridge Rebekah lodge, No. 126. An appropriate sermon was preached by the pastor, Rev. F. A. Wilson, which was much enjoyed by the large audience. He spoke of the thought of the uplifting qualities of these lodges and the strong feeling of brotherhood which is manifested by such organizations.

The choir rendered an anthem, "Praise Ye the Father," and a ladies' chorus sang very finely the selection "O God Be Merciful."

The Odd Fellows and Rebekahs met at their lodge room at 6:30 and marched to the church, where the center pews were reserved for them. The following officers had charge of the different orders: I. O. O. F.—P. G., Geo. D. Lawson; V. G., L. F. Farnes; secretary, Frank Smith; warden, Walter S. Rhodes; conductor, Wm. Knipe; R. S. N. G., George Lindsay;

Andover Represented on the Isthmian Canal.

Charles L. Carpenter left town for New York on Monday evening, and sailed on Wednesday for Colon on the Yucatan, of the Panama Steamship Company. He had received from Washington a few days before his appointment as chief of topography on one of the divisions of the Isthmian Canal. As he was for two years on the original survey of the Nicaragua Canal, and has since spent a year in Cuba in engineering, besides his two years' experience in Northern Alaska, he is especially well fitted for service in the great enterprise which, under the auspices of the Government, is at last to make a highway for the world's commerce between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. The part of the work to which he expects to be assigned is on the "Culebra Cut", a difficult piece of engineering midway on the isthmus between Colon and Panama, where the hygienic conditions will be more favorable than in either of the cities named.

DECORATED COMRADES' GRAVES

Memorial Day Fittingly Observed by Local Organizations—Stirring Address by Rev. W. G. Poor.

The usual observance of Memorial Day morning was carried out this year in Andover under bright skies and with the same patriotic feeling which characterizes the day. In the early morning many people visited the graves of departed loved ones and left flowers there while at various houses and on all public buildings the stars and stripes were hoisted at half mast in honor of the dead who had fought and given their lives for their country.

At 8:30 the line for the annual parade was formed at the G. A. R. hall under command of George K. Dodge of William F. Bartlett Post 99, G. A. R., and proceeded to Memorial hall where prayer was offered by Rev. William G. Poor of Topsheld and the slab bearing the names of departed Andover soldiers was strewn with flowers. The line was again formed and proceeded to the town hall in the following order:

The formation of the parade was as follows, George K. Dodge in command; Platoon of police, under Chief William L. Frye; Andover Brass band Arthur Bliss, leader; Walter L. Raymond camp, 111, Sons of Veterans, J. C. Corbitt, captain; Gen. Wm. F. Bartlett Post, 99, G. A. R., George K. Dodge, commander; Post Association of G. A. R., and veterans of the Spanish war.

In the Town hall an interesting and appropriate program was rendered and the large audience nearly filled the main body of the hall.

The address of the day, given by Rev. William G. Poor, was full of patriotic impulses and love for the country, and will be published in the next issue of the Townsman.

Dr. C. H. Gilbert made a few remarks in a patriotic vein recalling the valor of soldiers during the dark days from 1861 to 1865. He cited several cases of individual bravery and love of country which were thrilling and for which the greatest honor and praise is due.

The Raymond Male Quartette rendered several selections in a pleasing manner and during the address the following patriotic songs were sung by them, the audience joining in the chorus, "The Battle Cry of Freedom," "Just before the Battle Mother," and "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp." The full program was as follows:

Reading of orders, Adj. J. W. Barry
Music, Andover Brass Band
Remarks, Comrade C. H. Gilbert
Selection, Raymond Quartet
Prayer, Rev. F. A. Wilson
Response, Raymond Quartet
Reading, Pies, Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, Comrade Chas. Greene
Selection, Raymond Quartet
Address, Rev. Wm. G. Poor

During the address the following songs were sung, and the assembly joined in the choruses: "The Battle Cry of Freedom," "Just before the Battle Mother," "Tramp! Tramp! Tramp!"

At the close of the exercises in the hall the line was again formed and proceeded over the following route: Main street to Locke, Locke to School, School to South cemetery. After decorating the graves in the South and Episcopal cemeteries, barges were taken for Spring Grove cemetery, where ceremonies were held at the Soldier's monument, Rev. A. H. Fuller officiating. From there the post went in barges to the West cemetery, where prayer was offered by the post chaplain. After decorating the graves barges were taken for G. A. R. hall where comrades and escorts were dismissed.

Graves in the Chapel and Catholic cemeteries were decorated by detachments leaving the town hall at 6:30 o'clock in the morning.

STATEMENT OF BELIEF

Rev. J. Austin Richards' Statement as Delivered Before the Council at His Ordination.

Mr. Moderator and Gentlemen of the Council:

I understand that you desire some statement of my religious experience and belief. The demand is a searching one, for I am not aware of any time within my life when I have not in some sense had both these things. It seems that the thirst for them and some capacity to receive them were born in me, and from the first these natal blessings have been given singular external advantages both within the home and beyond it. Something of the moulding power of that home may have been guessed by those here who have known it from without, but hardly more than guessed, for from the dimmest beginnings of childhood memory onwards I have been conscious of influences—too profound to be uncovered here, too sacred to be bound by words—with a sweet and gentle strength have put a touch upon my life that never can be lost but must ever make towards nobleness. Almost as old as life are the child-hood recollections of the prayers of him whose prayers were always child-like, who was but lately known and honored here, and whose life before me day by day—pure, gentle, strong, courageous, the more wondered at the better known—gave me day by day in its unmeasured outpouring of unnumbered and utterly generous love ever increasing visions of the Fatherhood of God. To have such a father is a religious experience.

Friendship has been a second mighty factor in my spiritual life. I know not how to measure the debt that I owe to the intimate companionship of both men and women whose exalted lives have wakened in me new purposes and desires and whose trust and love and sacrifice have been my safe-guard and my inspiration. Closely allied to this have been the experiences of attempted service. Indeed I fear even the power of home and friendship might have proved unavailing if God had not led me in one way and another to attempt the Christian service of my fellow men. For it has been when I have been sharing the awful struggles of life with them and for their sake that God has been to me most immediately real. It has been when God has let me stand with them far out upon the frontiers of their lives where their enemies were smiting them that I have known and understood Christ best.

Without those deep and distant visions, those unfathomable stirrings of the heart, that sense of a presence that is not to be put by, that have come to me in weary, lonely hours after my poor but earnest attempts to meet the needs of brothers and sisters at my side, my Christian experience would be meagre indeed. Whatever I may have learned of the Christian realities through reflection and study, I am confident that I have gained incomparably more through home and friends and attempted service.

When fourteen years of age, and I consciously gave my life to Jesus Christ and in this house made public confession of my allegiance. Since then I have discovered how little I really understood of what I was doing, but I think I understood enough to make that the time when I became a Christian. But the experience did not with me mark the end of struggle. Rather did it mark its beginning. How often since then the new found purpose has wavered and the life wandered far from its Master. I would not care to tell you. Nor could I tell you, if I would, how in this new found service the meaning of life constantly unfolds and the joy of living grows ever more deep.

To-day I present myself for ordination to the ministry of Christ. You ask me why I do so. I cannot completely answer. For since long before the time I gave my life to Christ, I have had that I gave me—call it what you will—that has told me I must do what I am doing today. Against this inward demand I have at times fought desperately for there have been at least five other noble callings that at times have seemed su-premely attractive. But "necessity is laid upon me; for woe is unto me, if I preach not the gospel." Although today I am convinced that the greatest joy that can possibly come to me is in the Christian ministry, it is nevertheless not because of this that I am here. I am here because I cannot help myself.

In these too long introductory statements I have already told you that I believe in God. I think of him as a Spirit, self-conscious and self-directing, the author, sustainer, and orderer of all. He is everywhere that he is needed. His wisdom is past human finding out. He is able to do all that we require. I believe that he is good—his moral excellence perfect; that he desires others to be holy as he is holy, and that he opposes sin. But in the forefront of all my thought of him do I put his love for human kind. I believe that the love of God is such as Jesus told about. It is no mere sentimental love such as may often be completely selfish. It is no mere tendency on the part of God to love men as much as they love him, measuring out affection to them in precise quantity as they measure out the love of the heavens to our love. It is a love that seeks and suffers in order that it may save. It is a love that knows the darkness of the night and the fierceness of the storm wherever there is one single sheep away from the fold, a love that yearns and watches and then runs far out upon the way to meet and bless the returning child. With such love as the commanding attribute of God, God is to me no distant deity, but in the world among men, not far from any one of us, worthy of complete trust, and working for the triumph of his purposes of love. We may call him by his own name, and that name is Father, and his Fatherhood is not simply for tribe or people, it is for each individual human heart that will put its trust in the father-love that is the true heart of God.

God so yearning to possess men and give himself to them must reveal himself. I believe that he has done so in the past and by his Spirit is ever doing so. "The heavens declare the Glory of God, and the firmament showeth his handiwork." His hand is in the mighty sweep of history, and his truth within the mind of man. Our most precious record of God's revelation is in Holy Scripture. I believe that in the Bible we have the word of God—a self-expression on the part of God. The theme of the Bible is upon the one hand the entrance of God into the spiritual life of man and upon the other hand the searchings of men after God, after escape from sin and its guilt and power, after calmness in the presence of the pain and mystery of death. Standing thus in relation to both God and man, the Bible displays the character of both—the wisdom and the perfection of God and the ignorance and the sin of man. I therefore believe that the different parts of the Bible vary profoundly in their value and that those parts which have less power to bring us face to face with God must ever be tested by those parts which have the most power thus to reveal him. But far more wonderful than the theme of this book is its truth. It declares those things that are most important about God and shows the path by which men may come to him. That it does this is a fact of experience. God is assuredly such one as this book states and to be found in the way this book directs, because men adopting the way it tells have found him and found him such as this book says he is. The authority of the Scriptures is not in any mysterious imprimatur, but in their truth. And surely the book that gives me the unique revelation of the answer of the hunger of my soul after God, that gives me that answer by telling me that God is one who loves and cares for the children of men because they are his children too, is a book in the production of which and

KILLED BY BASEBALL

W. Howard Russell Fatally Hurt While Playing Baseball Last Saturday Afternoon.

William Howard Russell, son of Mrs. Katie Russell met his death as the result of being hit by a baseball in a game last Saturday afternoon. Young Russell with several playmates met on the grounds known as the Red Spring field, shortly after two o'clock and in preparation to a game which was scheduled through. It was in this that Russell received the accident which proved fatal. He was at the bat at the time and a playmate threw the ball for him to hit. Before he could get out of the way it hit him above the left eye. He did not consider it serious and after a short interval resumed playing. He played all through the game and at the close he seemed to his playmates to be in the best of spirits.

Young Russell went directly to his home and shortly after felt a sickness coming on. He grew rapidly worse and took to his bed. A physician was summoned and he said that nothing could be done for the unfortunate boy and at 2:30 Sunday morning he passed away. His friends who were playing ball with him were prostrated by the news of his death. His demise is a great shock to his relatives and friends as he was a young man of a quiet disposition and was much thought of by all who knew him. For a few years after coming from Boston six years ago he worked for the Andover Press and later in the Tye Rubber factory. He was born in Boston and was 16 years 8 months and 23 days old.

The funeral was held on Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock from St. Augustine's church, Rev. Fr. McCormack of the Mission church of Roxbury and a cousin of the deceased officiating. The Temperance club and the Knights of Our Lady of Good Council attended the funeral in a body, the deceased being a prominent member of each society.

Handsome floral tributes were sent by each of these societies and by the young people who were playing with him at the time of the accident. Many individuals also sent beautiful tokens. Interment was in St. Augustine's cemetery.

North Reading, 7; Andover A. A., 4.

The strong North Reading team defeated the Andover Athletic Association in its second game last Saturday afternoon. The local team started in very well, but in the third inning two hits and a series of errors gave the Reading team a good lead, which could not be overcome. After that the Association steadily down and played good ball. The three pitchers were effective, Reed having eight strikeouts and one base on balls, while Eaton and Hayward had nine strikeouts and no bases on balls. In the seventh inning the local team scored three runs, Maloney's hit coming at an opportune time. Errors were frequent, the home team having 12 to its credit.

EXCITING BALL GAME.

The local lovers of baseball were given a treat in the line of that sport on the morning of Memorial day, when the Young Men's Catholic association, and Blue Stockings club teams met on the Tavern lot grounds in battle royal.

After nine exciting innings the former team was victorious, the final score being 17 to 14 in their favor. A characteristic of the meeting was the gentlemanly good feeling which prevailed throughout the game between both teams and their supporters. At the most exciting parts of the contest the cheering was deafening.

FOR THE MIKADO'S SAKE.

"Our Japanese papers are full these days of stories of soldiers' devotion to the Emperor," said a Japanese merchant in New York. "But to my mind nothing illustrates the depth of this feeling as an incident that occurred when I was a school boy of eight years."

"One spring day, as we were studying in the little school house in my native town, we were suddenly alarmed by the cry of flood and had scarcely time to make our way out of the building and flee to the high land before the waters of the freshet were surging around the school."

"While we were standing on a hillside watching flood's progress, our teacher suddenly shouted 'The Emperor's picture!' The next instant he plunged into the swirling waters. I, though a poor swimmer, struck out for the school house, which my this time, had been loosened from its foundations and was moving down the valley."

"We who were on the bank understood. Every school house in Japan has a large picture of the Emperor above the teacher's desk. This picture is held sacred and is kept covered with a purple cloth every day in the year except November 13, the Emperor's birthday, when it is worshipped. It is the pride of a school never to permit the picture to be taken down, and so we children, with our hearts in our mouths followed our teacher as he pluckily breasted his way toward the school house."

"At last he reached it, vanished inside for a moment, reappeared with the picture rolled up and hastily but securely covered, plunged into the water, and struck out for the shore."

"After what seemed to us an eternity of time, he scrambled, exhausted, out of the water, with the picture safe and sound. And children then we were, we comprehended the heroic quality of his deed, and followed him heartily as he regained his breath."

"As I say, this to me, was a more heroic deed than any that the soldiers are now performing for the Emperor; for it was done not under the stress of a moment's patriotic impulse, but in the simple performance of duty."

A base ball moral lesson.—One of the base ball pitchers has succeeded in shutting out an opposing team without a hit and without permitting a player to touch first base. That same base ball pitcher, who has had a successful career of about 10 years on the diamond, never gets drunk, and as far as is known has never possessed the belief that it is a great thing to be a hoodlum.—Chicago Record-Herald.

The King of Wurtemberg is the only hotel keeper who is a king. When Peter the Great was travelling incognito through Europe he refused to stay anywhere but at an inn.
